Doesn't hurt a bit and Frezzone costs only a few cents.

With your fingers! You can lift off any hard corn, soft corn, or corn between the toes, and the hard skin caluses from bottom of feet.

A tiny bottle of "Frezzone" costs little at any drug store; apply a few drops upon the corn or callus. Instantly it stops hurting, then shortly you lift that bothersome corn or callus right off, root and all, without one bit of pain or soreness. Truly! No humbug!—Adv.

Your druggist gives back your money if it doesn't liven your liver and bowels and straighten you up without making you sick.

Ugh! Calomel makes you sick. It's horrible! Take a dose of the dangerous drug tonight and tomorrow you may lose a day's work.

Calomel is mercury or quicksilver which causes necrosis of the bones. Calomel, when it comes into contact with your bile, crashes into it, breaking it up. This is when you feel that awful nausea and cramping. If you are sluggish and "all knocked out," if your liver is torpid and bowels constipated or you have headache, dizziness, coated tongue, if breath is bad or stomach sour, just try a spoonful of harmless Dodson's Liver Tone tonight.

Here's my guarantee—Go to any drug store and get a bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone for a few cents. Take a

POULTRY

TO RAISE HEALTHY CHICKENS

Lack of Vigor in Newly Hatched Chicks is Often Traceable to Weakness of Parents.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

To be successful in raising chickens it is necessary to have healthy and vigorous breeding stock, for the lack of vigor in the newly hatched chicks is often traceable to weak parents. Only the most vigorous and the best grown birds should be put in the breeding yards. Each bird should be full of life and energy and free from any serious deformity. Yearling hens are usually better than pullets for breeders, for the reason that the hens are more mature and do not lay so many eggs during the early winter, and consequently do not reduce their vitality so much before the breeding season. Vigorous hens 2 to 4 years old can often be advantageously retained in the breeding yard. The male bird chosen should be young and active. An early hatched, well-developed

Healthy and Vigorous Farm Flock.

Open cockerel is usually satisfactory, or a good vigorous yearling or 2-year-old cock may be chosen. The hens used for breeding purposes should be given the best care possible; they should be provided with large runs, and should not be forced for heavy egg production during the early winter.

DIPPING CHICKENS FOR LICE

Likely to Become More General Than Dipping Cattle Because Pest Is More Numerous.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

"Dip that chick!" It isn't done just for the sake of making a rhyme for "dip that chick," either. Dipping chickens is likely to become more general than dipping cattle, because lice on chickens are a more widely distributed pest than the cattle tick. The "dip" consists of a solution of kerosene or creosote in water, which should be at a temperature of 70 to 85 degrees. The dipping should be done on a clear, warm day—never on a cold day. The old way of getting rid of chicken lice was by dusting with dry sodium fluoride. It was effective, but in the case of large flocks it was slow and tedious, a great deal of the dusting material being inevitably lost.

UP-TO-DATE SUMMER HOUSES

Colony Plan of Housing Poultry May Be Adopted to Advantage on a Great Number of Farms.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

The curtain-front or partial open-front house is considered to be the best type for most sections. The colony plan of housing poultry may be adopted to advantage on many farms. This system does away with the danger of tainted soil.

POULTRY NOTES

Let the hens help themselves to a dry mash.

Small or dirty eggs should be used at home.

Gather eggs daily, market at least twice a week.

Ship, or deliver eggs at least twice or three times weekly.

Cleanliness is a necessary precaution in poultry raising.

Feed growing chicks a dry mash to which they can help themselves.

Market white-shelled and brown-shelled eggs in separate packages.

Cull the flock so as to eliminate the early molters and other unprofitable producers.

Fertile eggs will withstand marketing conditions much better than fertile eggs.

You can mark little chicks by punching different webs in their feet when first hatched.

Market hens which you do not wish to carry longer at home as they stop laying and begin to molt in the late summer or fall.

St. Johnsbury, Vt.—Arrested as a slacker a year ago at his home here, after he had for several days in the mountains, about the city, placed in the service at Camp Devens, through the selective draft operation, only to desert from there after two weeks, and since that time living a hermit's life on Victory mountain, is the history of Elmer H. Cox, who has given himself up to the authorities and is now in a hospital under observation as to his sanity.

Looking Half-Starved.

For fear somebody would capture him while he was sleeping, and walked in his bare feet so as not to leave any tracks.

From the first Cox took a great dislike to the war and had queer ideas concerning the army and the draft. His number was called for examination by the draft board and he did not appear, nor could he be found. Several days later he was seen in the town and an officer trailed him to a rudely constructed shelter on Victory mountain overlooking a swamp near the city, and he was arrested. He passed the physical examination and was sent with several other rookies to Camp Devens early in June, 1918.

In my right hand I would wear a cane of weeping willow with a hook on one end and a thimble on the other. With my left hand I would clutch by the ears a small black cat, and I would wear in my life. Of course, I would wear equally appropriate garments. And thus arrayed I would ramble around in the vicinity of the Union station, and let the denizens of that locality play with me. I fancy that in a short spell I would accumulate more novel experiences than I could otherwise acquire in a year's time."—Kansas City Star.

Sea Coast Echo

Official Journal of Hancock County, Miss.
Official Journal City of Bay St. Louis, Miss.
CHAS. G. MORREAU, Editor and Pub.

CITY ECHOES.

Mr. and Mrs. John Caron and sons left Tuesday evening for a two-week stay at their home in Coliseum street, New Orleans, after which they will return for an indefinite stay.

Mr. Edwin W. Edwards, resident manager at Gulfport for the Hancock County Sales Co., was a business visitor to Bay St. Louis Tuesday afternoon and visited relatives in Washington street.

Mrs. J. B. Clifton has gone to Pearl River, where she will remain a month visiting and assisting her daughter, Miss Florence, who is teaching at one of the county schools at that place. She will, however, spend the week-end in Bay St. Louis.

Governor-elect Lee M. Russell and wife spent the early part of the week in Bay St. Louis visiting friends. The distinguished visitors were guests of their personal friends, Major and Mrs. W. A. McDonald at their family home on the beach drive-way.

An interesting little stranger arrived at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. K. Solomon, in Dunbar avenue, Sunday night. Mr. and Mrs. Solomon have many friends here who will read of this announcement with pleasure and extend best wishes and congratulations.

In order to better get around in his daily business rounds, Mr. A. L. Skokoe purchased from Messrs. Edwards Bros., resident agents, a Ford "runabout" one of the latest types with motor in self-starter. It is the "classiest" thing of its kind in town and is generally admired. During the week Mr. Skokoe made a business trip to Hattiesburg in his new car.

Mr. W. A. Cuevas, of Fenton, accompanied by a son, were in Bay St. Louis for a short while Thursday evening while on their way to New Orleans, where they registered at the Monteleone Hotel. While here Mr. Cuevas paid The Echo an appreciated visit, viewing some of our superlatives and was laudatory in his expression of same.

Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Bourgeois welcomed a newcomer at their home at an early hour Sunday morning—a daughter. Mr. Bourgeois has been extra busy at his place of business ever since receiving the good wishes and congratulations of friend and acquaintance on the occasion of so happy an event.

Mr. and Mrs. John D. Grace and daughters, Misses Virginia and May, who have been in California are spending a while at present in Salt Lake City, Utah. From there they are to Denver, Colorado, for a while, thence to New York City, where they will remain for part of the year.

Judging from the amount of printing turned out for the occasion by The Echo plant, Monday is going to be a big day at Engman's Big Bargain Store, Bay St. Louis, on which day a special bargain sale in every line is going to be put on. In every department there will be slaughter of prices, and an unusually varied and large stock will be on hand to select from.

Miss F. H. Hosmer, daughter of Mrs. Sylvan Hosmer, underwent an operation for appendicitis at the New Orleans, Monday morning. Dr. M. Souchon, surgeon. The patient survived the ordeal splendidly and from latest reports is doing well.

Mr. and Mrs. Ladner were both in New Orleans at the time Mr. Ladner returned home to his official duties Tuesday morning.

Mrs. C. Forstner has sold her beautiful summer home in Ballentine street to J. H. Black, Jr., who has already taken active possession of the same. Miss Black is connected with the U. S. Railway mail service on the local line. We understand the consideration was $3,000. Mrs. Forstner reserved the ownership of the land and cottage on the west side of the property sold.

Local friends of Mr. and Mrs. I. M. Lichtenstein will learn with interest of their return to New Orleans during the week from their trip to New York City and Lake Belgrade, Maine, where Miss Fannie Lichtenstein spent the summer. The family have the sympathy of their many Bay friends on the occasion of the death of Mrs. Lichtenstein's father, Mr. Levy, which occurred shortly before reaching New York.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Wolbrecht and children and their mother, Mrs. C. Forstner, left for New Orleans Saturday afternoon, where they will spend the winter. Mr. Wolbrecht is preparing to build a new home in Bay St. Louis, spacious and on the order of the bungalow type, with every modern appointment, and intends making this city his permanent home in the future.

Major J. H. Hickey, U. S. A., two years in France, six months of which he spent in Paris, and located in New Orleans at present, with the supply department, arrived here during the week accompanied by Mrs. Hickey and their two children, and are located in the beach front. They have taken property for six months. Major Hickey is originally from Kentucky. He is thoroughly charmed with the Mississippi Gulf Coast, and was attracted here by its climate, healthfulness, etc.

On Wednesday, the 1st, the Mississippi oyster season, both for the packers and raw dealers, opened when a large number of vessels from various coast points started out for the Louisiana marshes and the Mississippi reefs for the bivalve, with which they will supply a larger number of shippers than ever. More oyster licenses have been issued this year than during any previous year, and this alone indicates that the largest fleet will go to the reefs this season. The oysters have been inspected by members of the commission and found to be in excellent condition.

The former Jenks home located on the beach front, near the Perkins properties, was sold Thursday to Mr. Max D. Kohler, proprietor of the New Orleans Dixie Laundry who is arranging to build a very attractive bungalow hereon. Mr. Kohler had been contemplating the purchase of this desirable site for some time, and he might build the beautiful home he proposed, and was finally successful in his quest.
